Did You Know? There are some organizations that participate in CalPERS that are not state agencies.

- Qualifying Service (or employment service credit) includes service at other state agencies
- California state agencies include the following:
    - University of California (including Hastings College of the Law)
    - The UC-managed Department of Energy Laboratories
        - This would include service at LBNL until September 30, 2007
    - California State University
    - Time spent on military leave from the above institutions
- The following are NOT included
    - Community colleges
    - Other local or county agencies
- View the complete list of eligible state agencies online at https://www.ca.gov/agenciesall
